Course overview

Investors are increasingly looking for 'Alternative' ideas beyond the conventional Bond & Equity universe. There has never been a formalized definition of what exactly constitutes an 'Alternative' Investment & consequently the list of possibilities can seem long when thinking about the potential from either an Institutional or Private Investor perspective. Some have relatively high costs of entry, which effectively act as barriers to entry for individual Investors.

- Real Estate – From physical bricks & mortar to Real Estate Investment Trusts (REITs)
- Private Equity – From Venture Capital to Management Buyout Funds; a look at the Unicorn Club
- Hedge Funds – The pursuit of positive returns in all market environments. Absolute Return Investing - the search for pure Alpha
- Commodities – Physical or Synthetic exposure? From ETFs to Commodity Futures
- Crypto Currencies – Investment or merely a speculative token?
